Kennett Symphony Family Concert Potions That Create Emotions

Ignite your child's imagination and love of music!
All tickets just $5!

KENNETT SQUARE, PA – The Kennett Symphony of Chester County, under the direction of Music Director, Michael Hall, will present Potions That Create Emotions at its annual Family Concert on Sunday, March 25, 2018, 2 pm, at Rustin High School Auditorium, West Chester, PA.

Tailor made for young people, the concert is 45 minutes long without an intermission and presents excerpts of great classical masterworks.

This year, our fun, educational, and engaging concert explores how music affects emotions. Join us in our Musical Laboratory as our scientist, played by actor Wes Johnson, shows us how composers use different musical sounds to create and express emotions.

Following the performance, the Kennett Symphony will offer its popular Instrument Zoo, during which children can meet and greet the musicians of the Kennett Symphony and try out the instruments of the orchestra.

Program selections include:

MOZART – Overture to The Marriage of Figaro
COPLAND – Fanfare for the Common Man
TCHAIKOVSKY – Romeo & Juliet Overture-Fantasy
WILLIAMS – Harry's Wondrous World from Harry Potter

All tickets are $5 per person and seating is reserved. To order tickets, visit www.kennettsymphony.org or call the Kennett Symphony at 610 444 6363.

The Kennett Symphony is Chester County's only fully professional symphony orchestra and serves the residents Southeastern Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey, along with thousands of tourists who attend the Kennett Symphony's popular concerts at Longwood Gardens. Now in its 77th season, the Symphony's mission is to serve the community by enriching lives through music. In addition to presenting varied and entertaining orchestral concerts, the Kennett Symphony encourages young musicians through annual Young Artist Competitions and its affiliation with the Kennett Symphony Children's Chorus.
